StreamZilla, version 2027.1

At StreamZilla we like openness. We share extensive information about how we work, our technology, our customer satisfaction and our prices, and we are proud of that. At the same time, we explain here under which conditions we share that information.

Ownership and permitted use

All content on the StreamZilla website(s) is the property of Jet-Stream Services B.V., which provides StreamZilla ("StreamZilla", "we"). This includes, among other things: information, data, prices, products, models, methods, procedures, frameworks, software, code, technical specifications, intellectual property, technologies, descriptions, images, photos, videos and documents. Content that customers publish via StreamZilla, such as their own videos and pages, remains the property of those customers.

You are granted a limited, revocable, non-transferable licence to view, print and use this content within your own organisation for information purposes. No other licence is granted. The following applies:

1. All published content is intended for information purposes only.
2. It is prohibited to copy, publish, redesign, reverse-engineer, disclose, translate, share, repackage or modify content from our websites or servers, in whole or in part, without StreamZilla's prior written consent. Technically necessary temporary copies, such as the browser cache, are excluded from this.
3. Our content may not be used for competing products or services, for competitive analyses for commercial publications, or for benchmarking, without StreamZilla's prior written consent.
4. Automated access is not permitted. This includes scraping, mining, harvesting, bulk downloads and the use of our content for training, fine-tuning or feeding AI models, in any form, without StreamZilla's prior written consent. We also record this reservation of rights (including the text and data mining reservation) in machine-readable form, among other things via robots.txt and metadata.

In short: respect our work and our interests.

Third-party rights

All other logos, product names, materials and trademarks are the property of their respective owners. We respect the rights of third parties and purchase licences for third-party content. We do not claim ownership of third-party material. We may display third-party logos solely to inform our audience about the technologies, services and companies we work with; if you would rather we did not, please contact us and we will resolve it. If you believe that we are using a photo or other work to which you hold rights without the proper licence, let us know and we will come to an appropriate arrangement.

Links to third-party websites

Our website(s) may contain links to third-party websites. We have no control over those websites, are not responsible for their content, availability or privacy policies, and including a link does not mean that we endorse the content.

No warranty

We are continuously improving our services. We develop and release so quickly that our services may be ahead of what is described online. Our website(s) and the information on them are provided “as is”, without any warranty, including implied warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose or non-infringement.

Although we try to prevent it, our website(s) may contain technical inaccuracies, outdated price information and typing errors. If we find them, we correct them; if you find them, please let us know via support@jet-stream.com. Changes are made periodically and included in new versions of the website. StreamZilla may improve or change the products, services and technologies described or shown on its website(s) at any time and without notice.

Liability

Use of our website(s) is at your own risk. To the extent permitted by law, StreamZilla accepts no liability for damage arising from the use of, or reliance on, information on its website(s), or from their temporary unavailability. Nothing on our website(s) constitutes a binding offer; agreements are concluded as described in our terms.
